The history of the house

The left half of the building was acquired by Joseph Fischer (father) and his wife Margaret, who have taken it as a trade-Drugstore Perfumery in the days when the city was experiencing its industrial heyday. The right half was acquired for the development of the business taken over by Joseph Fischer (son) and his wife Lucie. Armand and his wife Christiane Fischer took over, for the third generation, the reins of the family business and it was the turn of their son Yves Fischer in 1998.

The shop was particularly renowned for its home-made preparations, which receipts were transmitted and improved from father to son, the diversity of its products and the famous druggist advice offered to customers appreciating especially the quality of welcome.

With the desire and pleasure to continue this value in place, Sabine Fischer/Wohlgefarth and her husband Philippe began the renovation in 2012 with the help of local craftsmen, to offer you the best of comfort. Each accomodation has a detail of charm to make you enjoy your stay.
